The Hopeless Chest

This year's dust collector was inspired by the nominal dessert from a take out Chinese dinner.

Try to open it – great rewards await!

We put our two cents in ($0.02 American) - your assignment is to get them out.

If, after giving your best effort, you need a hint, decipher the fortune cookie message below with the same cryptological key we always use when we can't think of anything else clever to say - substituting the previous letter of the alphabet for each letter of the message.
