The Possibly Impassable Puzzle

In the little white box is a piece of wood, carefully crafted to pass through the square, the cross, and the circle, fully conforming to each shape.

Can you picture what the piece of wood must look like?

If and when you give up (and we fully expect you will), go ahead and open the little white box. But since you'll get only one chance to be surprised, don't give up too soon!

--Disclaimer--

Due to inferior working conditions in the shop caused by an exceptional merlot yield, some pieces will conform better than others.
(Yours will most likely not be one of the former.)

As always - if you have any difficulties assembling or operating our product, don't hesitate to call our 900 number.
